Wawasee Plaza History Highlight – June 2026

One interesting piece of Wawasee Plaza history is that the property originally evolved from several separate buildings dating back to the early 1900s. According to the plaza's historical records, the oldest portion still standing today was built in 1902, making it one of the oldest commercial structures still active in downtown Syracuse. Over the years, the property transformed from small-town storefronts and motel space into the mixed-use residential and commercial hub known today.
